The Chenoa Fund offers a unique opportunity to assist homeowners with a standardized down payment assistance program that reaches across city, county and state lines.

I have found some nationwide lenders to be less involved with DPA programs since they have to first apply with the agency that sponsors the program. Then once approved may only use that program once or twice a year. The complexity of being established to produce under one DPA program for one state is far more challenging than one DPA program that can be used for all 50 states. This does not mean state or local sponsored programs are forgotten, but now are in direct competition to be able to offer the best terms for the buyer. Competition spawns buyer benefit. Lenders are more likely to assist first time buyers since they know, on a higher level, how to navigate the loan and the buyer through the process with confidence.

Encourage balanced competition that benefits buyers.
