I am a mortgage loan officer that is licensed in multiple states and I utilize down payment assistance programs in many states. Not all state run down payment assistance programs can serve all the needing home buyers for a multitude of reasons, credit score, income near misses, overly strict and inflexible guidelines. DPA programs like Chenoa are there to help where a local or state run program fails and I have personally and professional used Chenoa to help families obtain their first home.

Chenoa became available to me just a little over 1 year ago. I personally have originated 10 loans for customers who otherwise would have not been able to buy. All were capable of making the monthly payment and many were lower than their rent payments. Saving for a down payment was the issue. No one is more willing to default or lose the home they are raising their children in just because they put less money down. All borrowers are financially and emotionally invested in their home purchase. Regardless of down payment.
